Killia

A young demon who seeks revenge, and has a long history with Void Dark. He doesn't like teaming up. He seems very cold, but his kindness shines through when he helps those who are suffering because of the Lost. His calorie intake is very high, and he eats whenever he has the opportunity.

Comment by Takehito Harada

A demon with the blood of a dragon, who wears scale-like clothing. His fighting style includes slashing, so I kept him sleek, but with muscles. Also, I didn't forget about the main character qualities.

Comment by Sohei Niikawa

I wanted the main character of 5 to be really cool. If it's a hot blooded character, then it'll overlap with 2's Adell, so I went the direction of making a "cool" character, like the blue ranger from a certain sentai series, and even got the voice actor, Mamoru Miyano. He's normally cool, but he's hot blooded on the inside. How attractive.

Seraphina

The Princess Overlord of Gorgeous, which is the richest nation in all the Three Worlds (Netherworlds, Celestia, and Human World). She truly believes all men exist to kneel before her. She ran away from home because her father arranged a marriage of convenience with Void Dark, who she now plans to assassinate.

Comment by Takehito Harada

I made her look like a modern Succubus, so she looks very hip and flashy. She charms men with her friendly and soft looks. How scary.

Comment by Sohei Niikawa

I was particular about how much she is able to maintain her Overlord image while bringing out her charm and fun. I did my best to make sure she wouldn't come across as a mean character, and I put a love of love into her so that she can be a very prideful, cool character.

The heir of Toto Bunny, who dislikes fighting. Due to one of Void Dark's subordinates, she was cursed to constantly have to eat curry or she will turn into a beast. Now, she actually likes curry. She has a very nice personality, which is unusual for a demon.

Usalia

Comment by Takehito Harada

I made her fluffy to make her seem more like a rabbit. Since she's yellow, she loves curry. Her clammy eyes are her charming points. I was able to design a new type of Prinny, too.

Comment by Sohei Niikawa

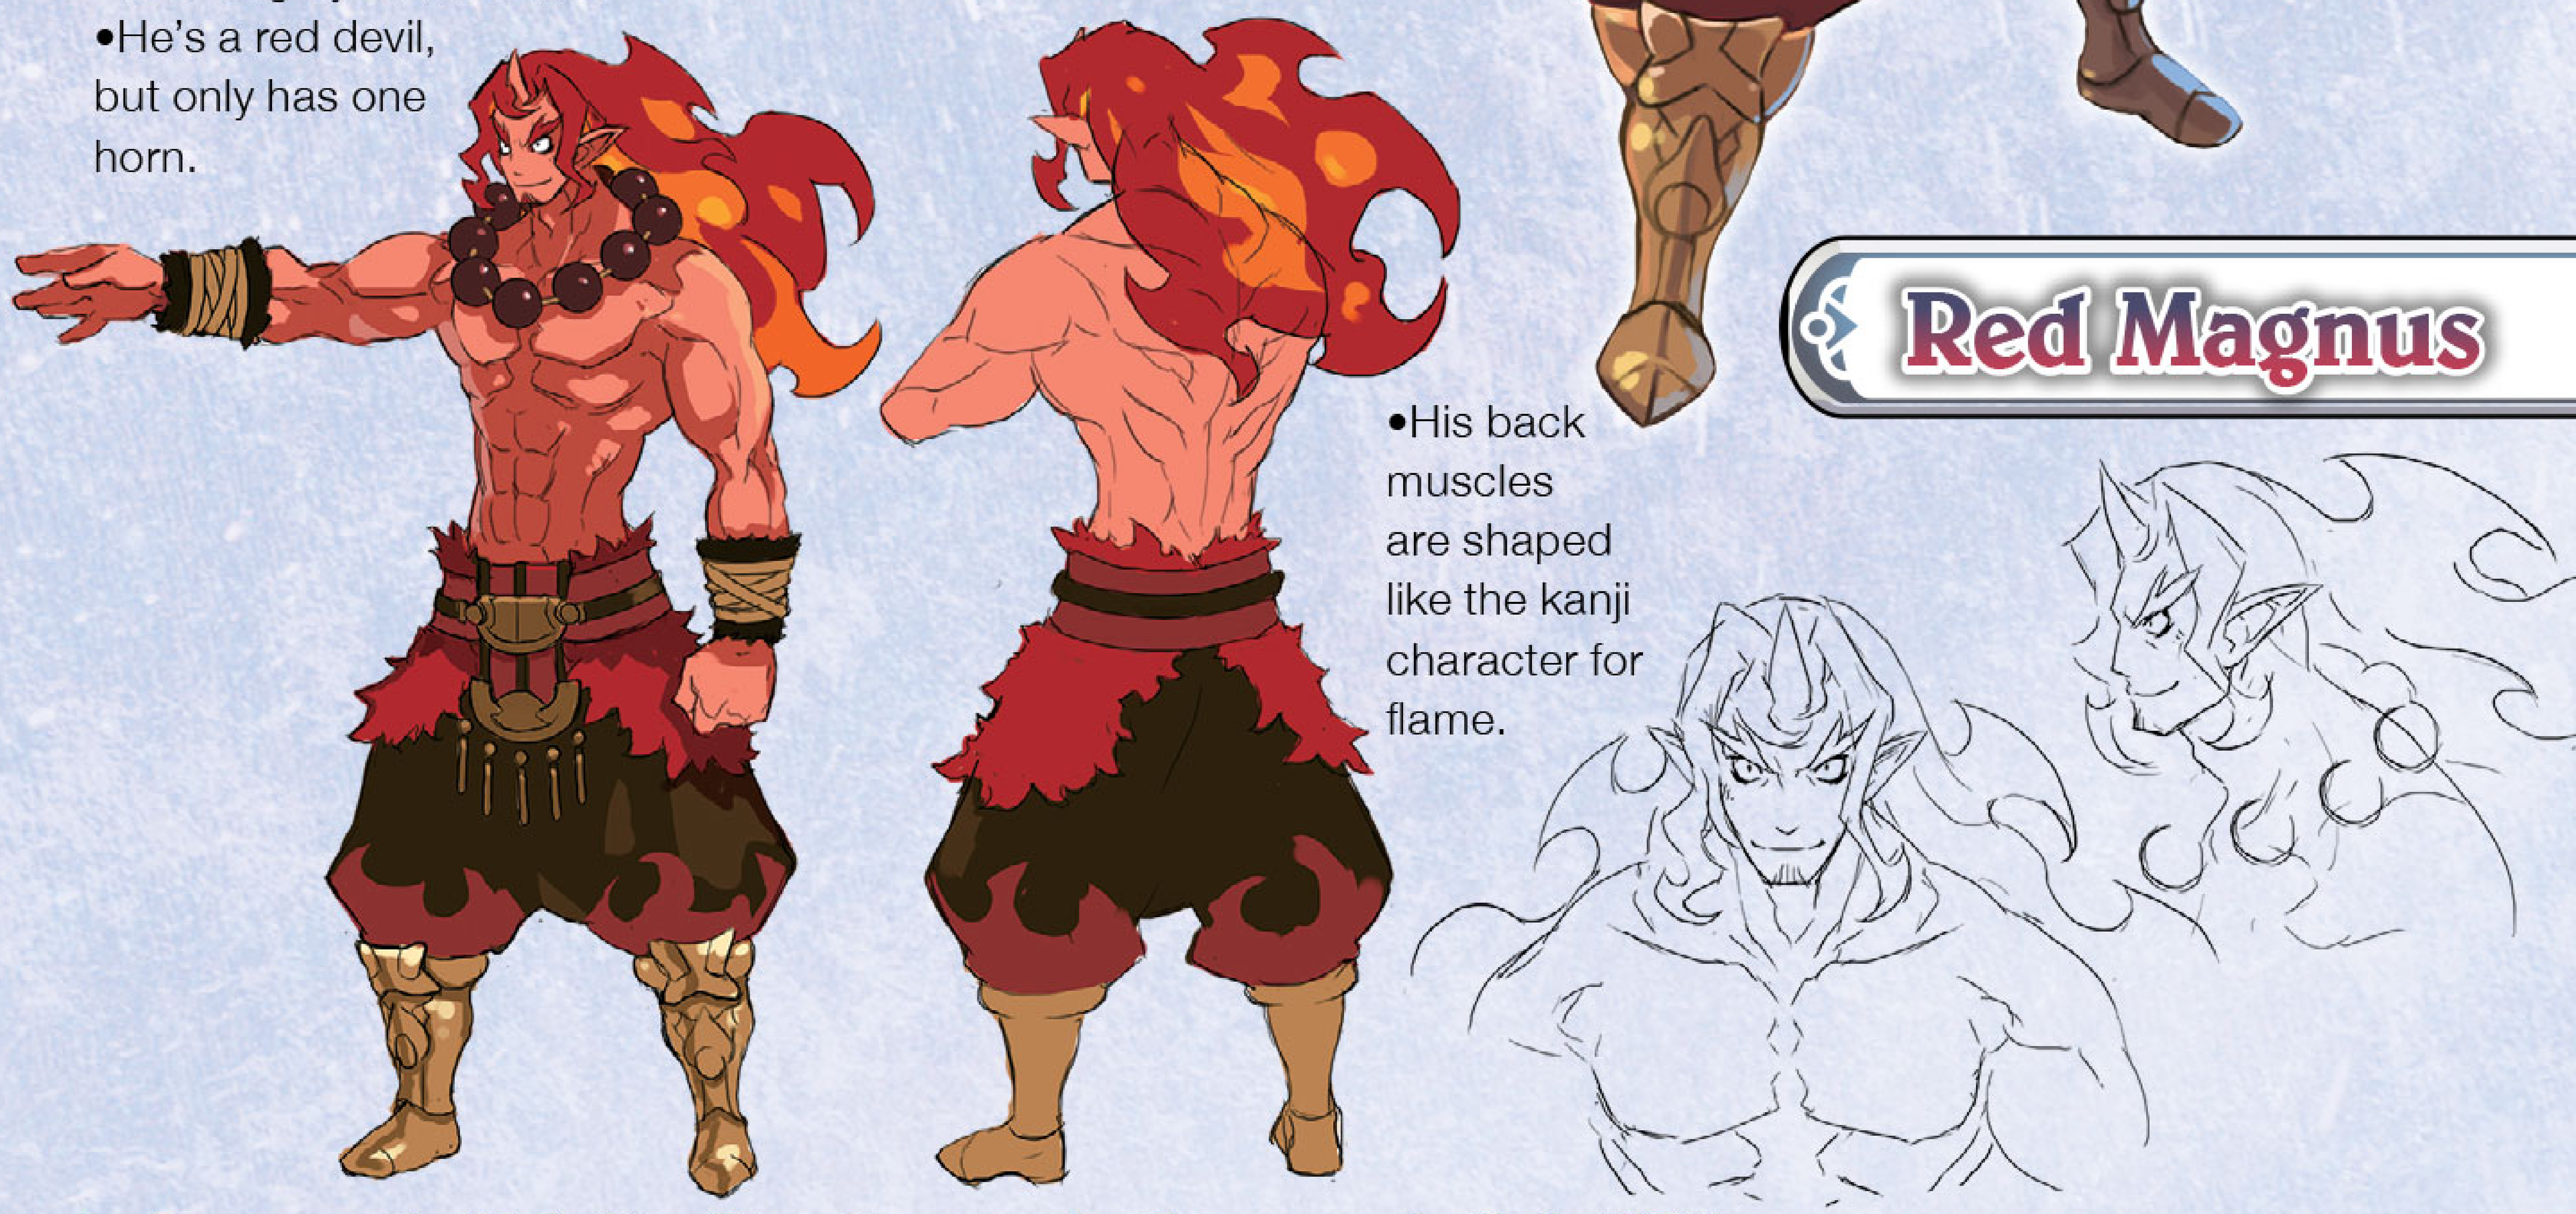

This is the character we created to be the mascot-type for 5. Mr. Harada made her cute beyond my imagination, so she surpassed Madam Seraphina, and we created a figurine of her. (laughs) I'm sorry, Madam Seraphina! Unlike her cute looks, she has experienced a hard life. Please keep an eye on her.

The Overlord of Scorching Flame, where vicious demons reside. He is very wild, and believes that strength is everything. He is trying to defeat Void Dark to become the strongest Overlord. His Netherworld has been on bad terms with Seraphina's Netherworld for a long time. He says "super" quite often.

Red Magnus

Comment by Takehito Harada

The first idea was to make a handsome flame ogre, but I was ordered to create a sweaty musclehead, so I made him buff. Various parts of his body become giant.

Comment by Sohei Niikawa

He's a musclehead. We originally wanted him to be a handsome guy, but when we had all the main characters together, we made him muscular to balance things out. When we visualized him as a handsome man, we hired Mr. Koyasu, but even after we made him muscular, we kept him as the voice actor. We were able to make him express himself very freely. Mr. Koyasu is the man.

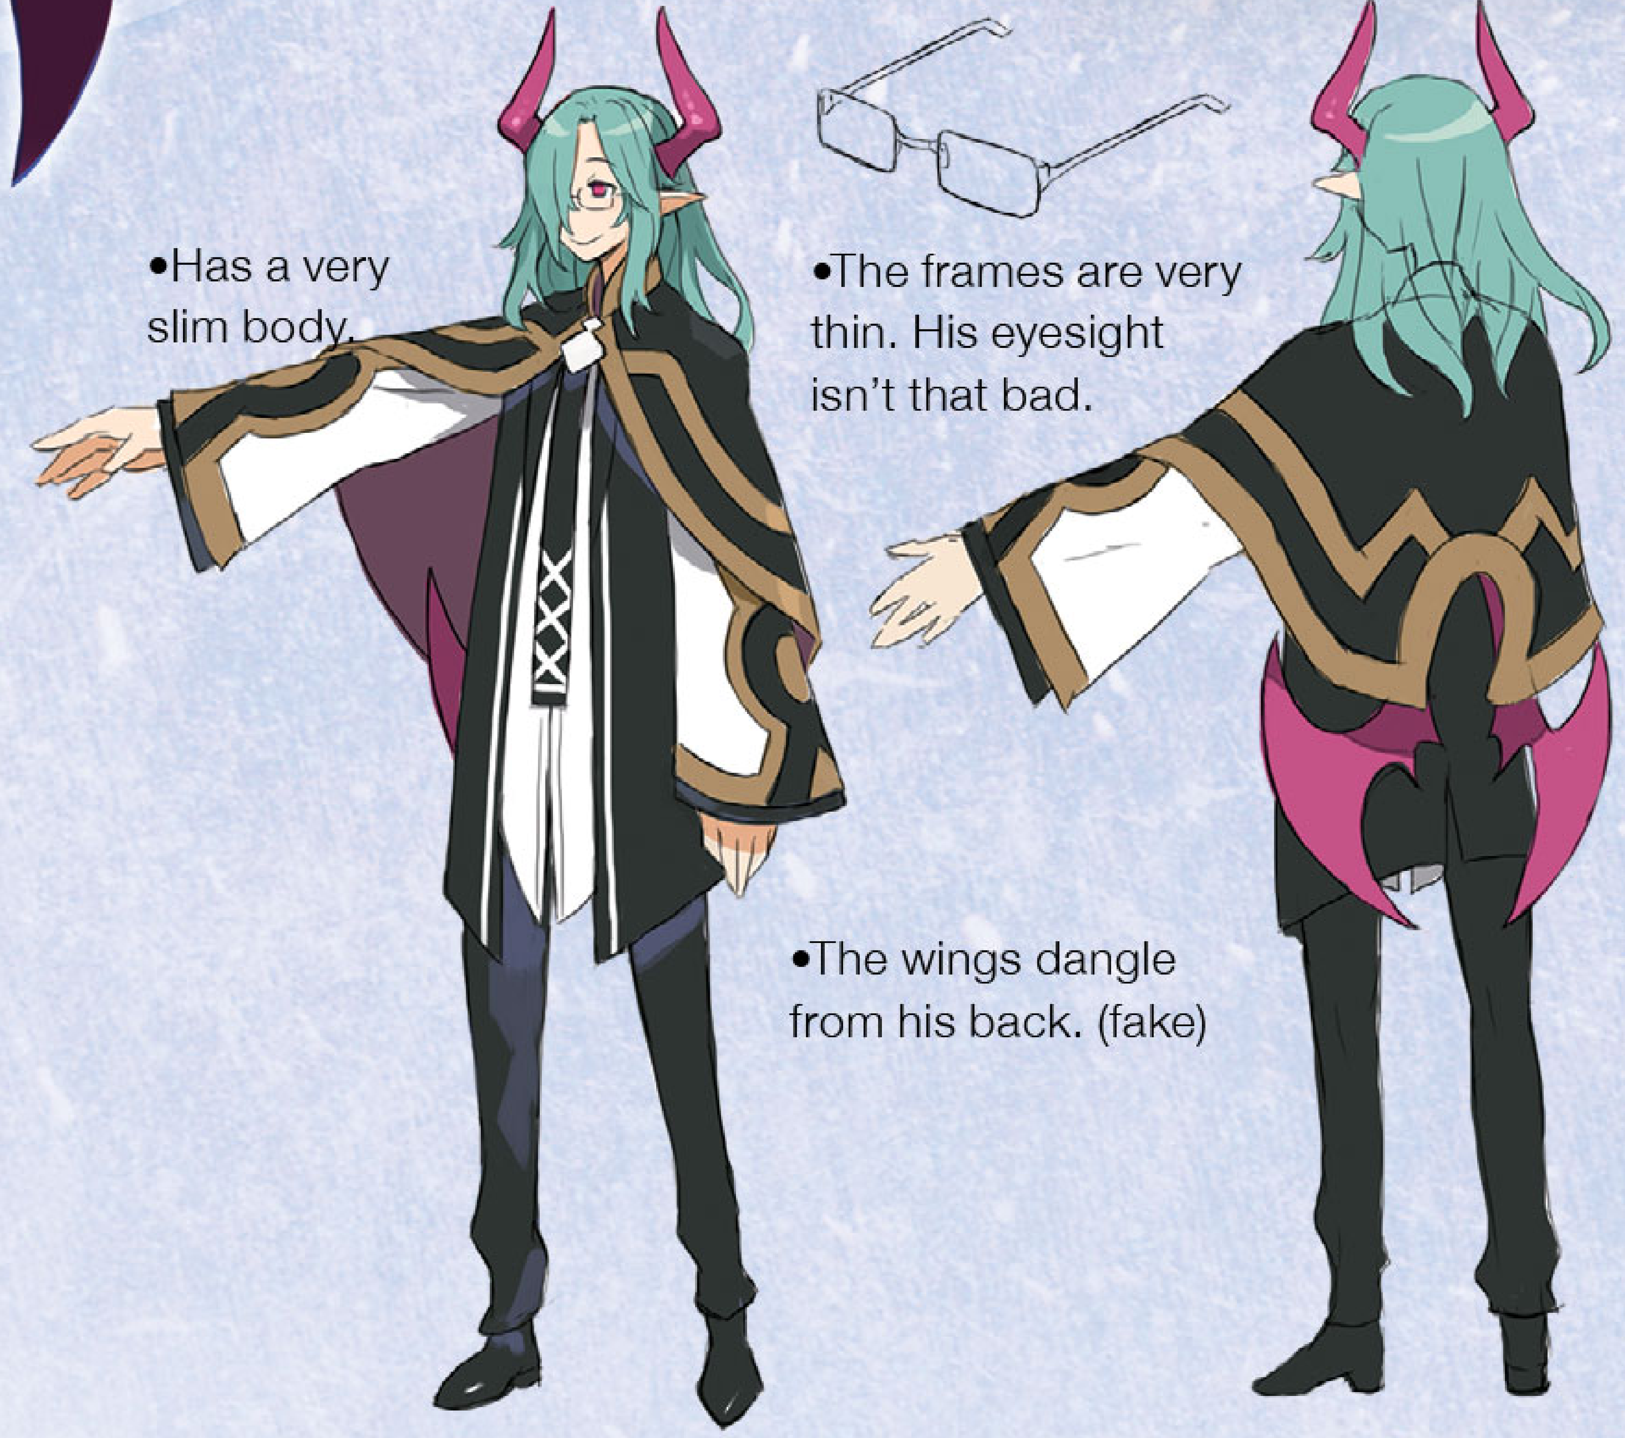

Christo

An Overlord who is affiliated with a certain giant Netherworld. He is a gifted tactician, and will do whatever it takes to attain victory. Killia's great magic potential caught his eye, and he views Killia as his best shot for assassinating Void Dark.

Comment by Takehito Harada

Since he's a very timid, serious Overlord, I gave him long hair and glasses. He has splendid horns, too.

Comment by Sohei Niikawa

Christo's position is that he is secretly planning something behind the team's back, and because of that, he might be the most demonic character of them all. Please enjoy the awesome voice actor, who actually also does the voice of the Prinnies*. There is a big surprise at the end, but only people who know the series will get it. People who bought the limited edition will get a big smirk on their face.

*Japanese version

A young Overlord and self-proclaimed heir of the legendary Great Demon Fist, Goldion. He appears while Killia and the others are fighting the Lost and helps them, even though no one asked him to. He can be stubborn, but has a flexible mindset, changing his attitude depending on who he's interacting with.

Zeroken

Comment by Takehito Harada

I imagined a middle school delinquent. It looks like he's having fun with his life. If he had a bicycle, he would've pimped it.

Comment by Sohei Niikawa

I planned on giving him the sweet role of the rival at the beginning, whose friendship blooms and he becomes an ally, but...I'm sorry. He became an idiot. But, do not worry, he's not just an idiot. He's a lovable idiot. He's the type of main character who grows more than anyone else. Please give him much love.

Void Dark

The leader of the Lost Army, who is known throughout the entire Netherworlds as the great and evil Demon Emperor. His relentlessness is immeasurable, and with his massive power, he invades many Netherworlds, one after another. He's very brutal and cruel, and only sees his underlings as chess pieces.

Bloodis

The Demon General who takes the role of Void Dark's right-hand man. His power is second only to Void Dark. He is very dutiful to his orders, and silently carries them out. He secretly enjoys fighting powerful enemies.

Majorita

One of Void Dark's loyal Demon Generals. She will kill anyone, including allies, and revive them as corpses under her control. She dreams of creating a demon utopia, and mistakenly believes in Void Dark's reign.

Liezerota

A girl who projects a very calming atmosphere. She is deeply involved with Killia's past, and she has had a major influence on Killia's current life. She supposedly plays a part in Killia and Void Dark's fate...

General Characters

Warrior

A warrior who has a strong body and unbreakable spirit.

Comment by the Development Staff

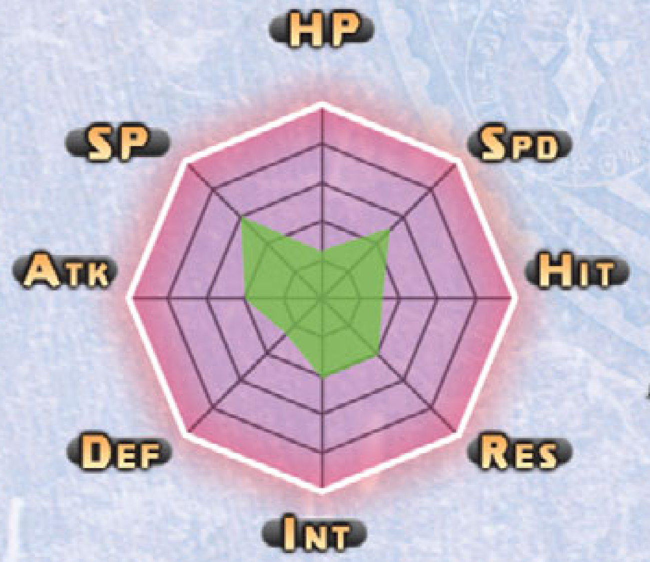

The theme for Disgaea 5 Complete's generic characters was, "They're generic, but let's give them personalities!" If they're a mage, then let's make them more like a mage. If they're a ninja, then let's make them more like a ninja. We did our best to make sure each class moves according to their class.

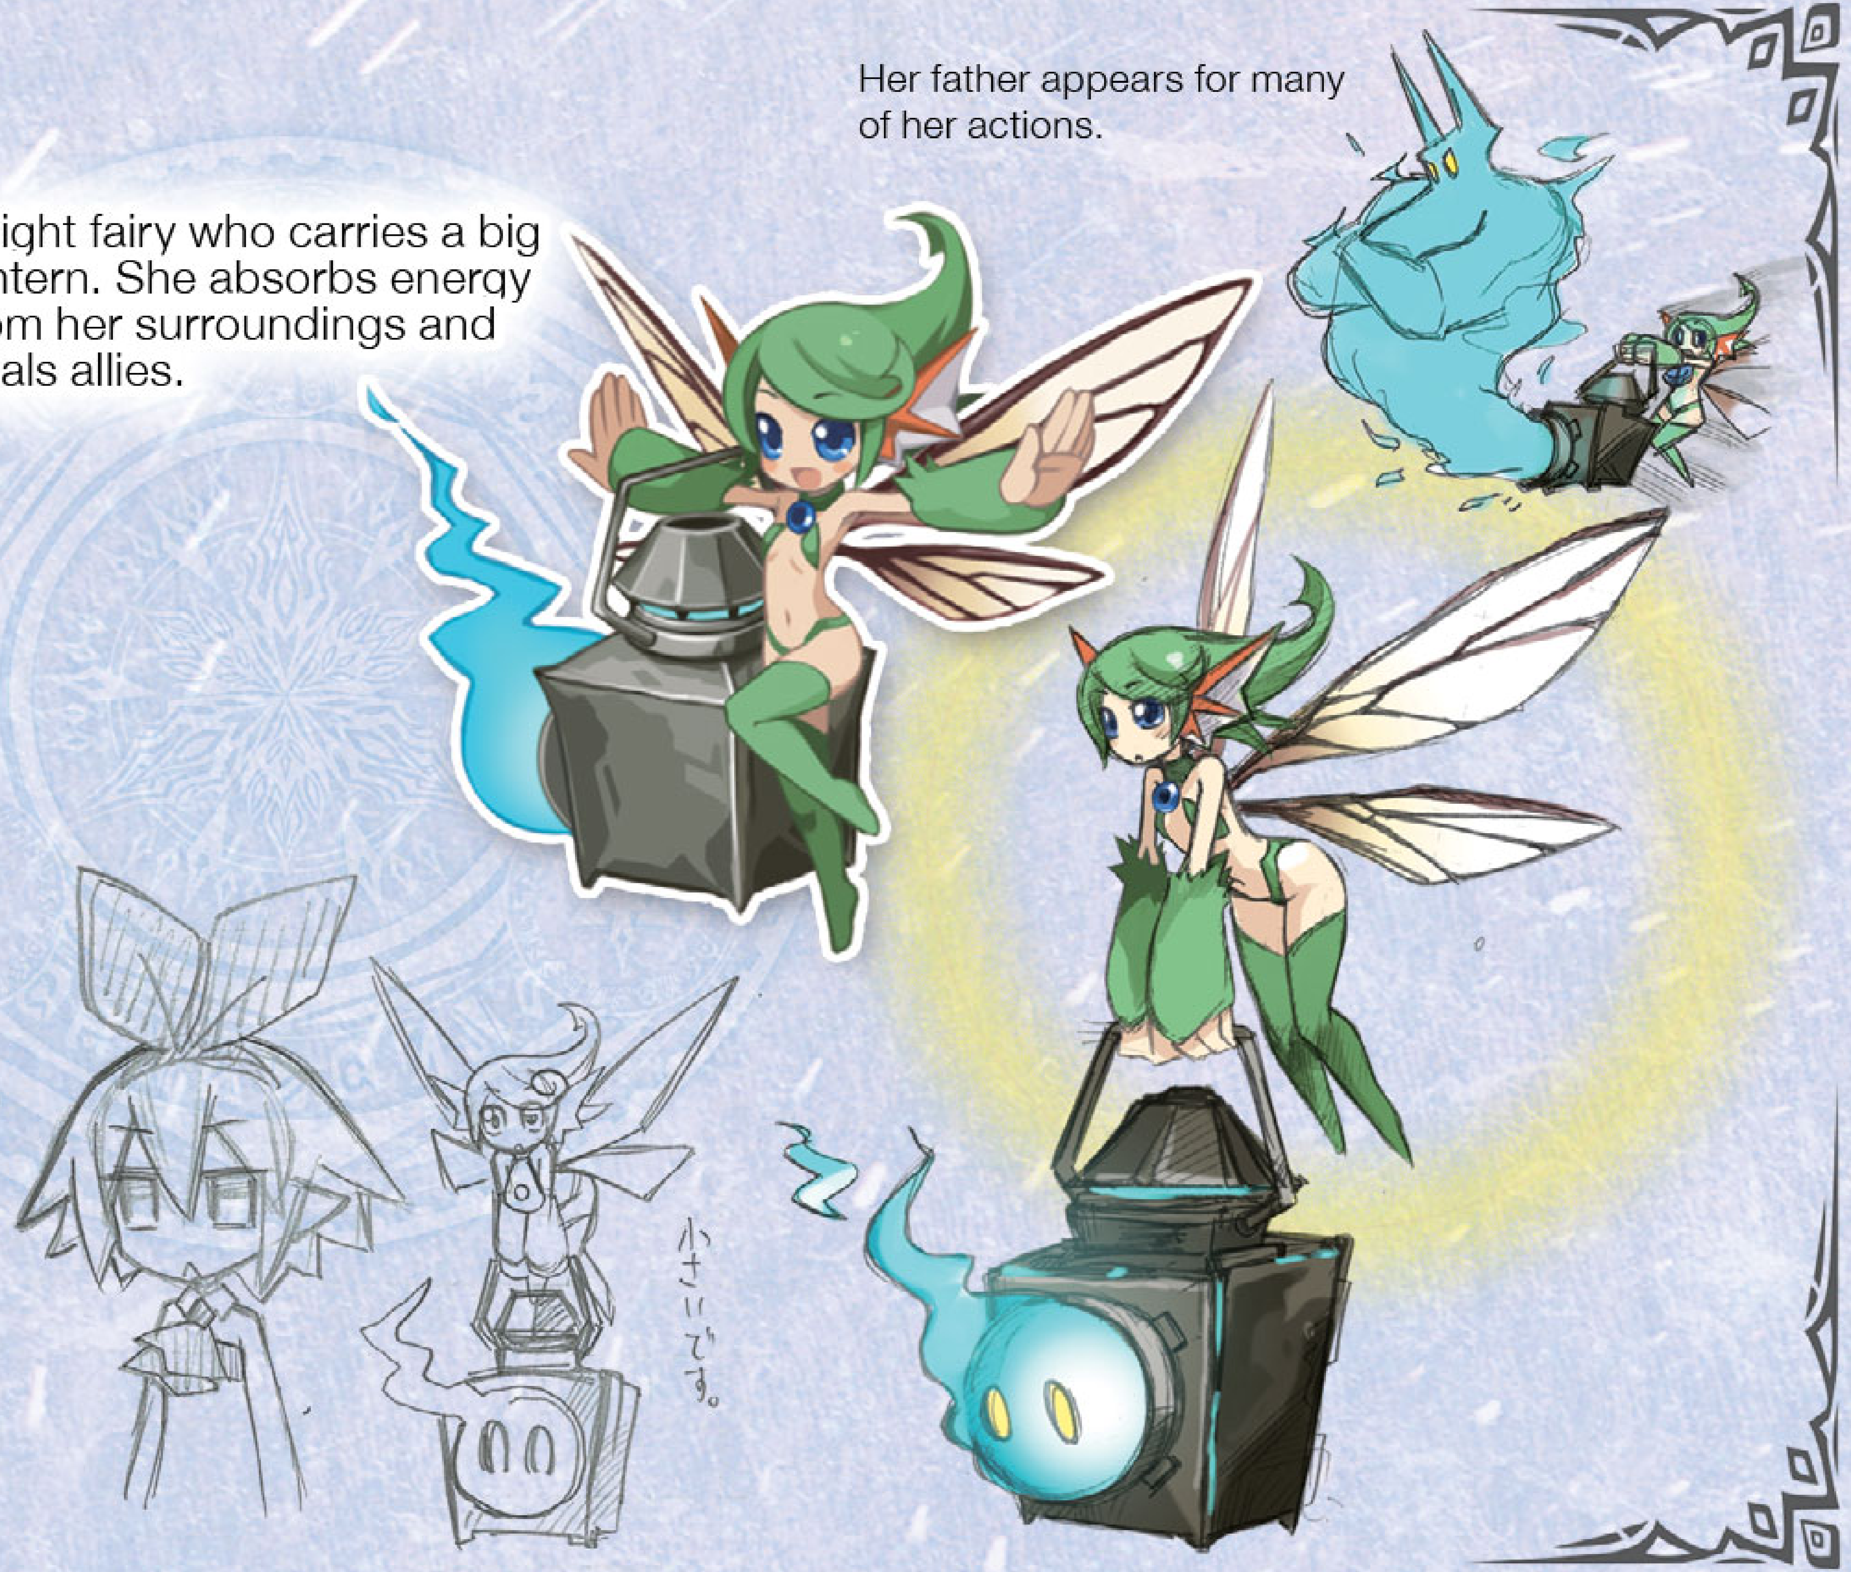

Even in the system, the range of Evilities that are available in the game, and the inclusion of class proficiency, offer many features to customize them according to their class. So please, it would be nice if you choose and play with your favorite characters, and train them to their limits.

Fairy

A light fairy who carries a big lantern. She absorbs energy from her surroundings and heals allies.

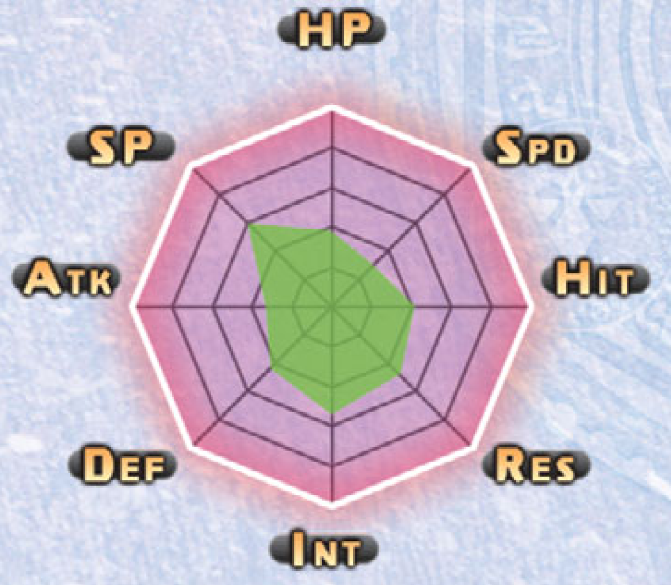

Nine-Tails

A fox spirit who has nine tails. She enhances her abilities with luck.

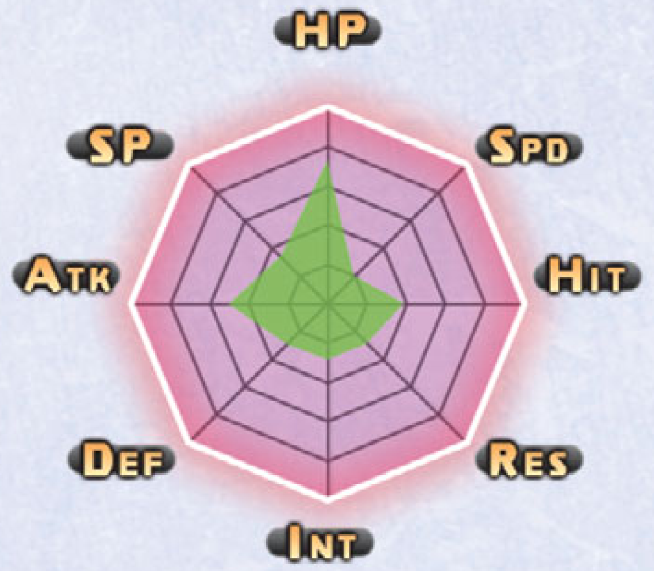

Bear

A giant forest bear with a great appetite. He converts the damage he takes into rage.

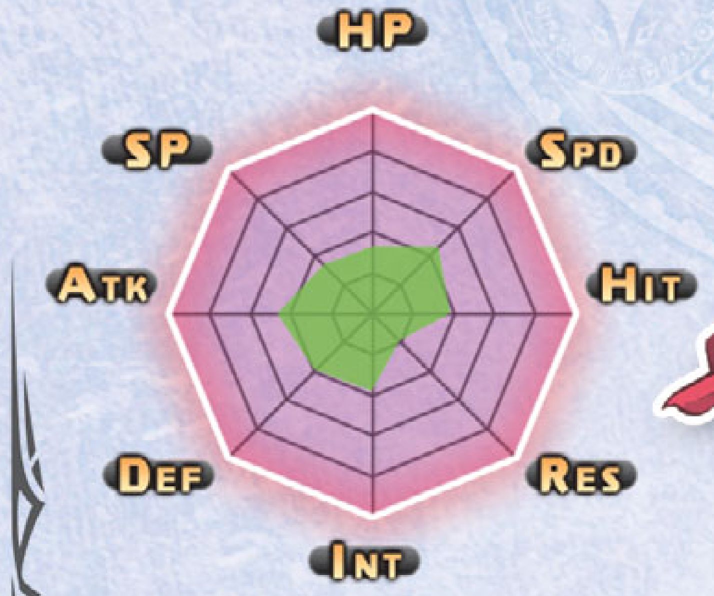

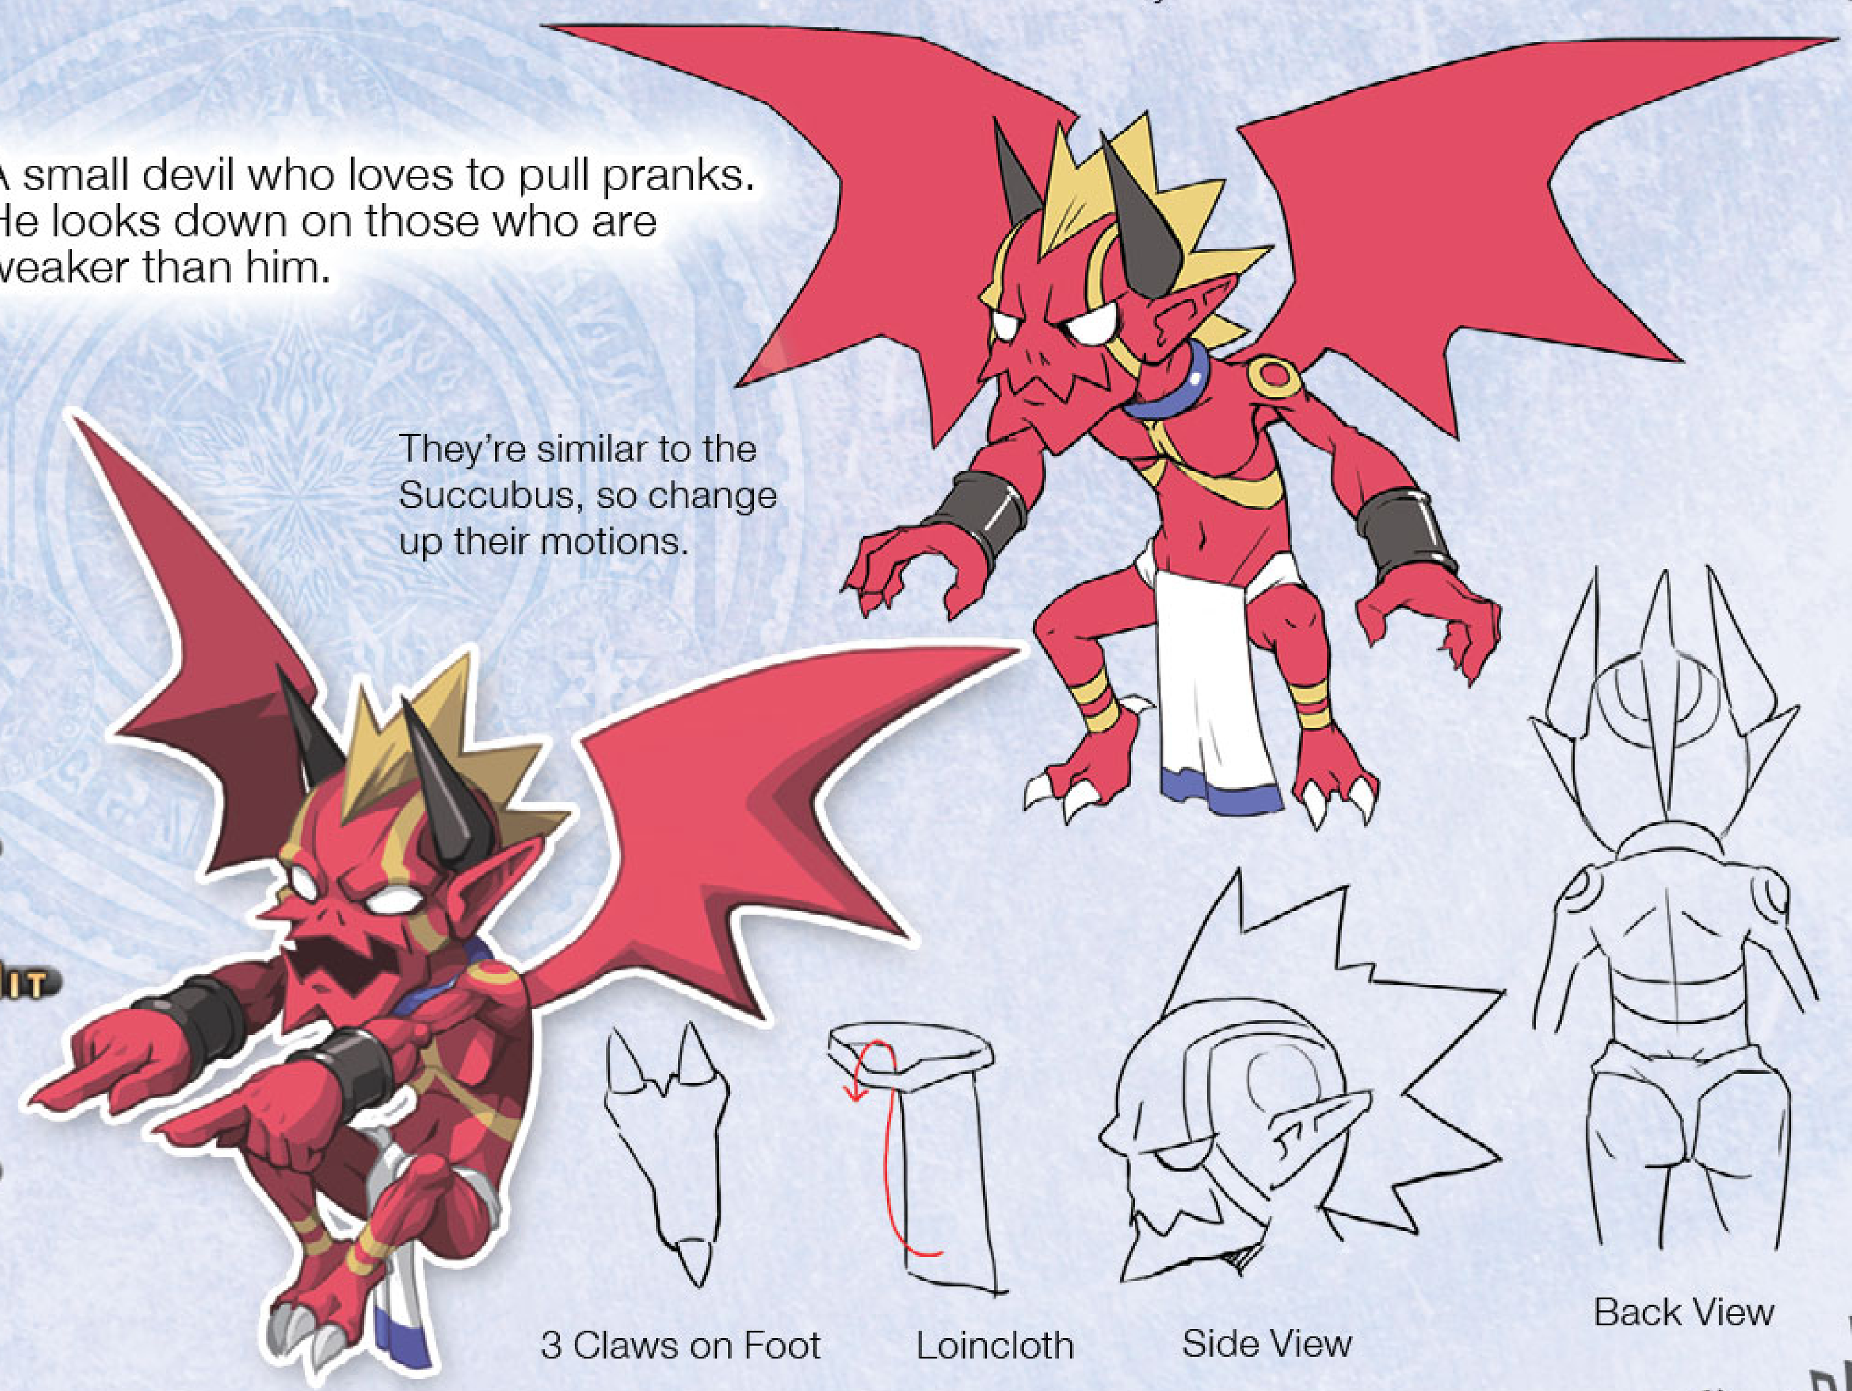

Imp

A small devil who loves to pull pranks. He looks down on those who are weaker than him.

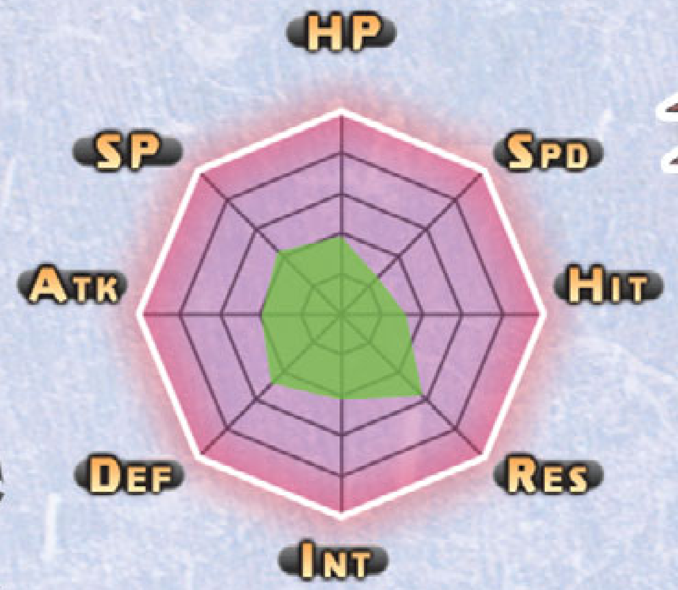

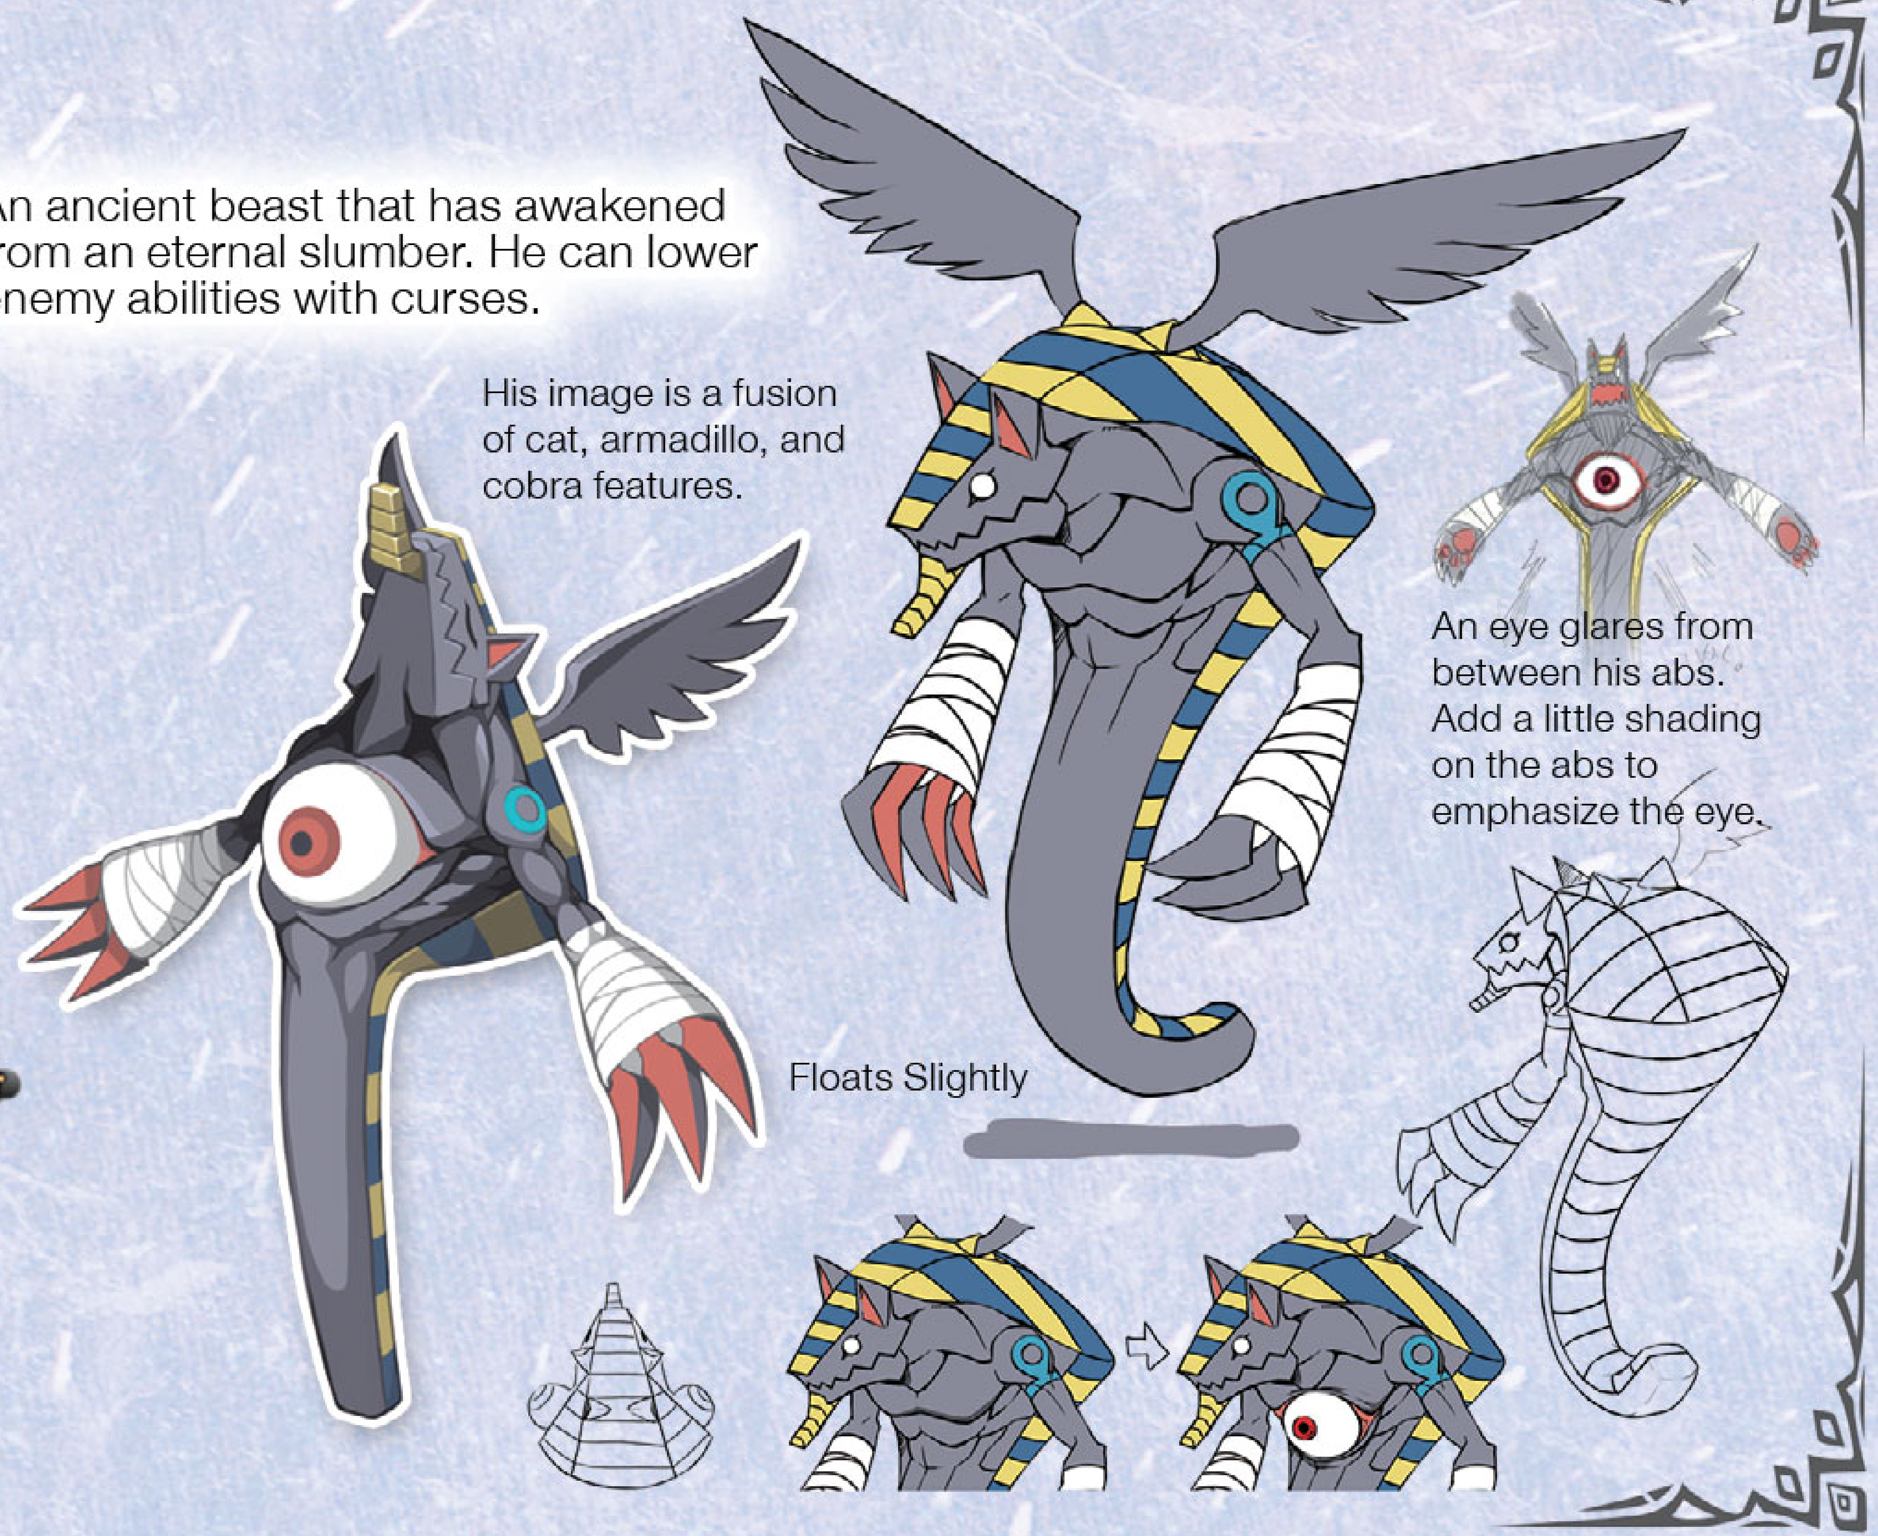

Chimera

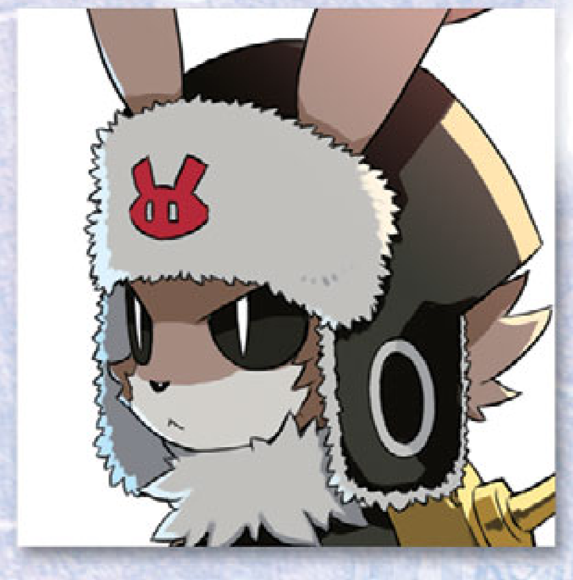

An ancient beast that has awakened from an eternal slumber. He can lower enemy abilities with curses.

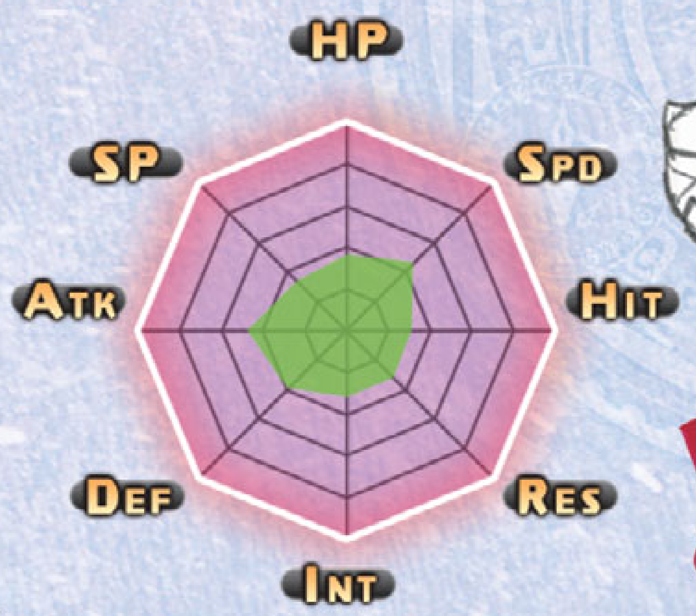

Rabbit

A rabbit demon who loves peace. He specializes in ambushing from above.

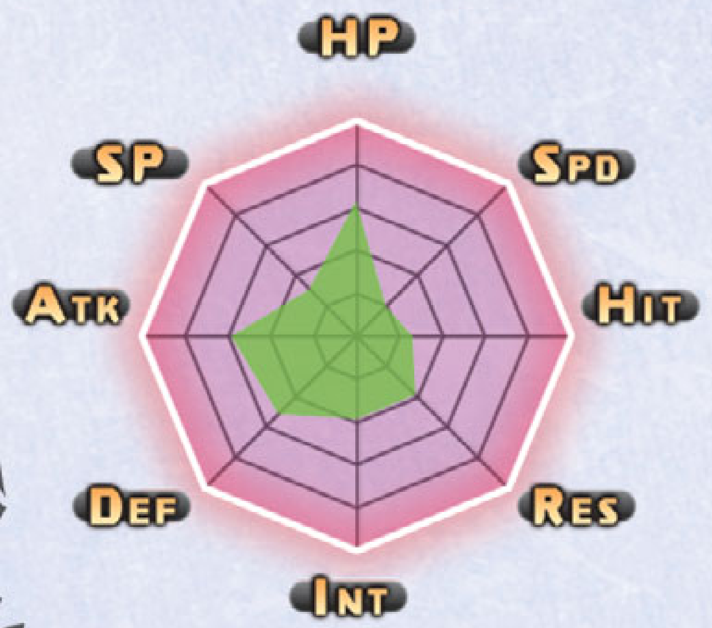

Twin Dragon

A dragon conqueror. His motionless attack increases the strength of his two heads.

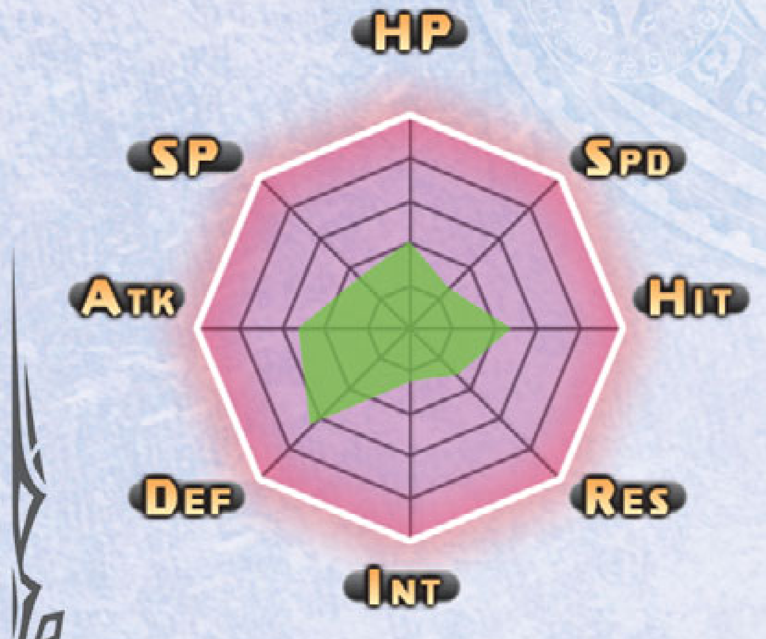

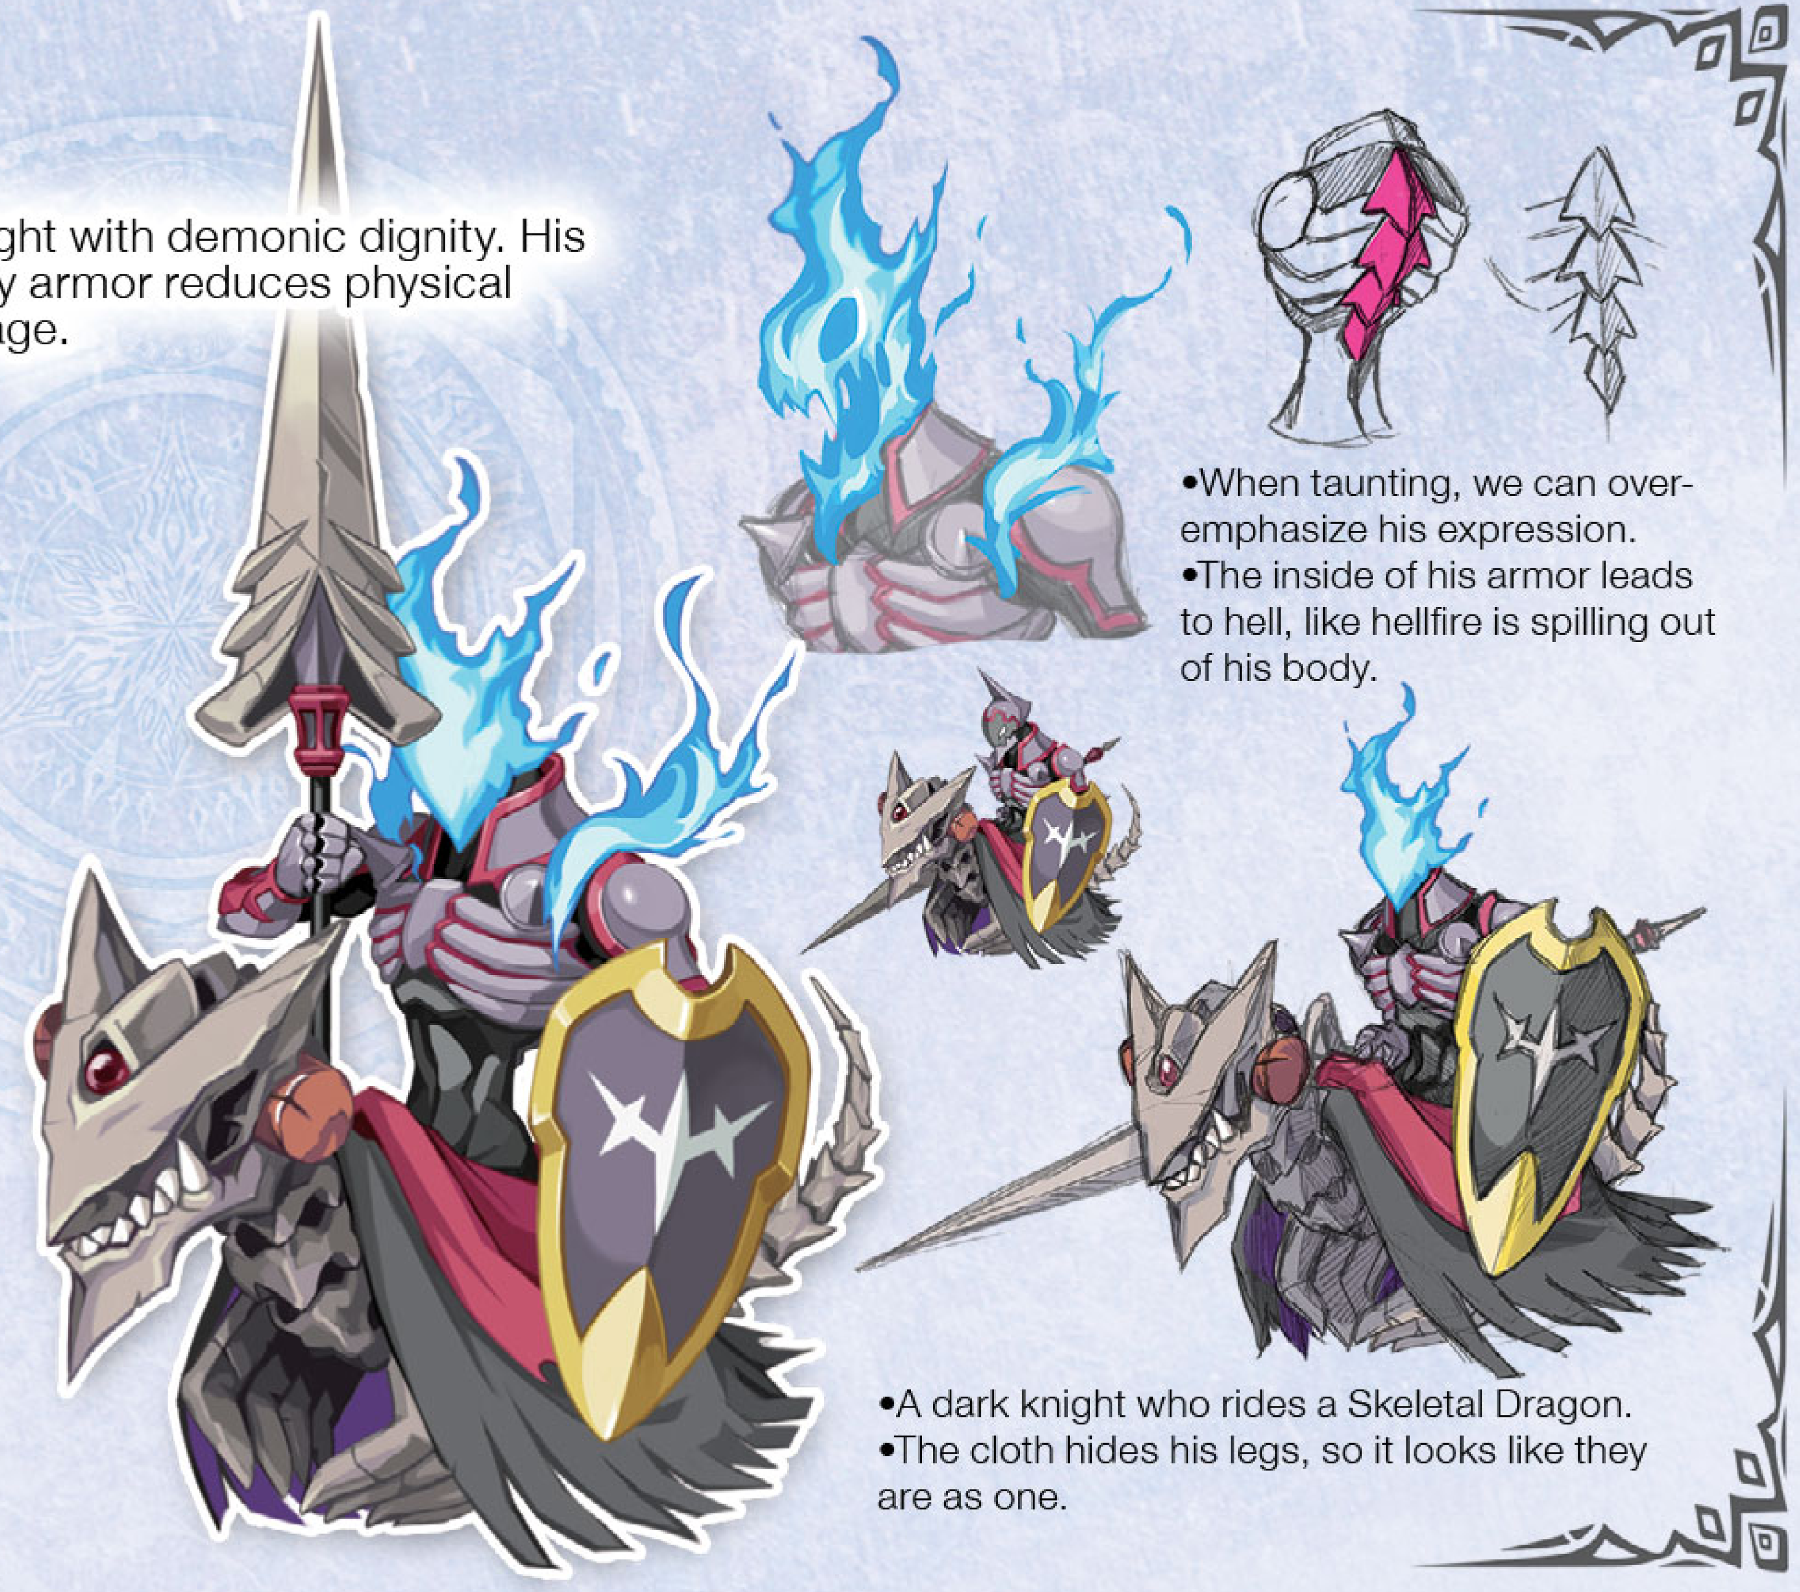

Horseman

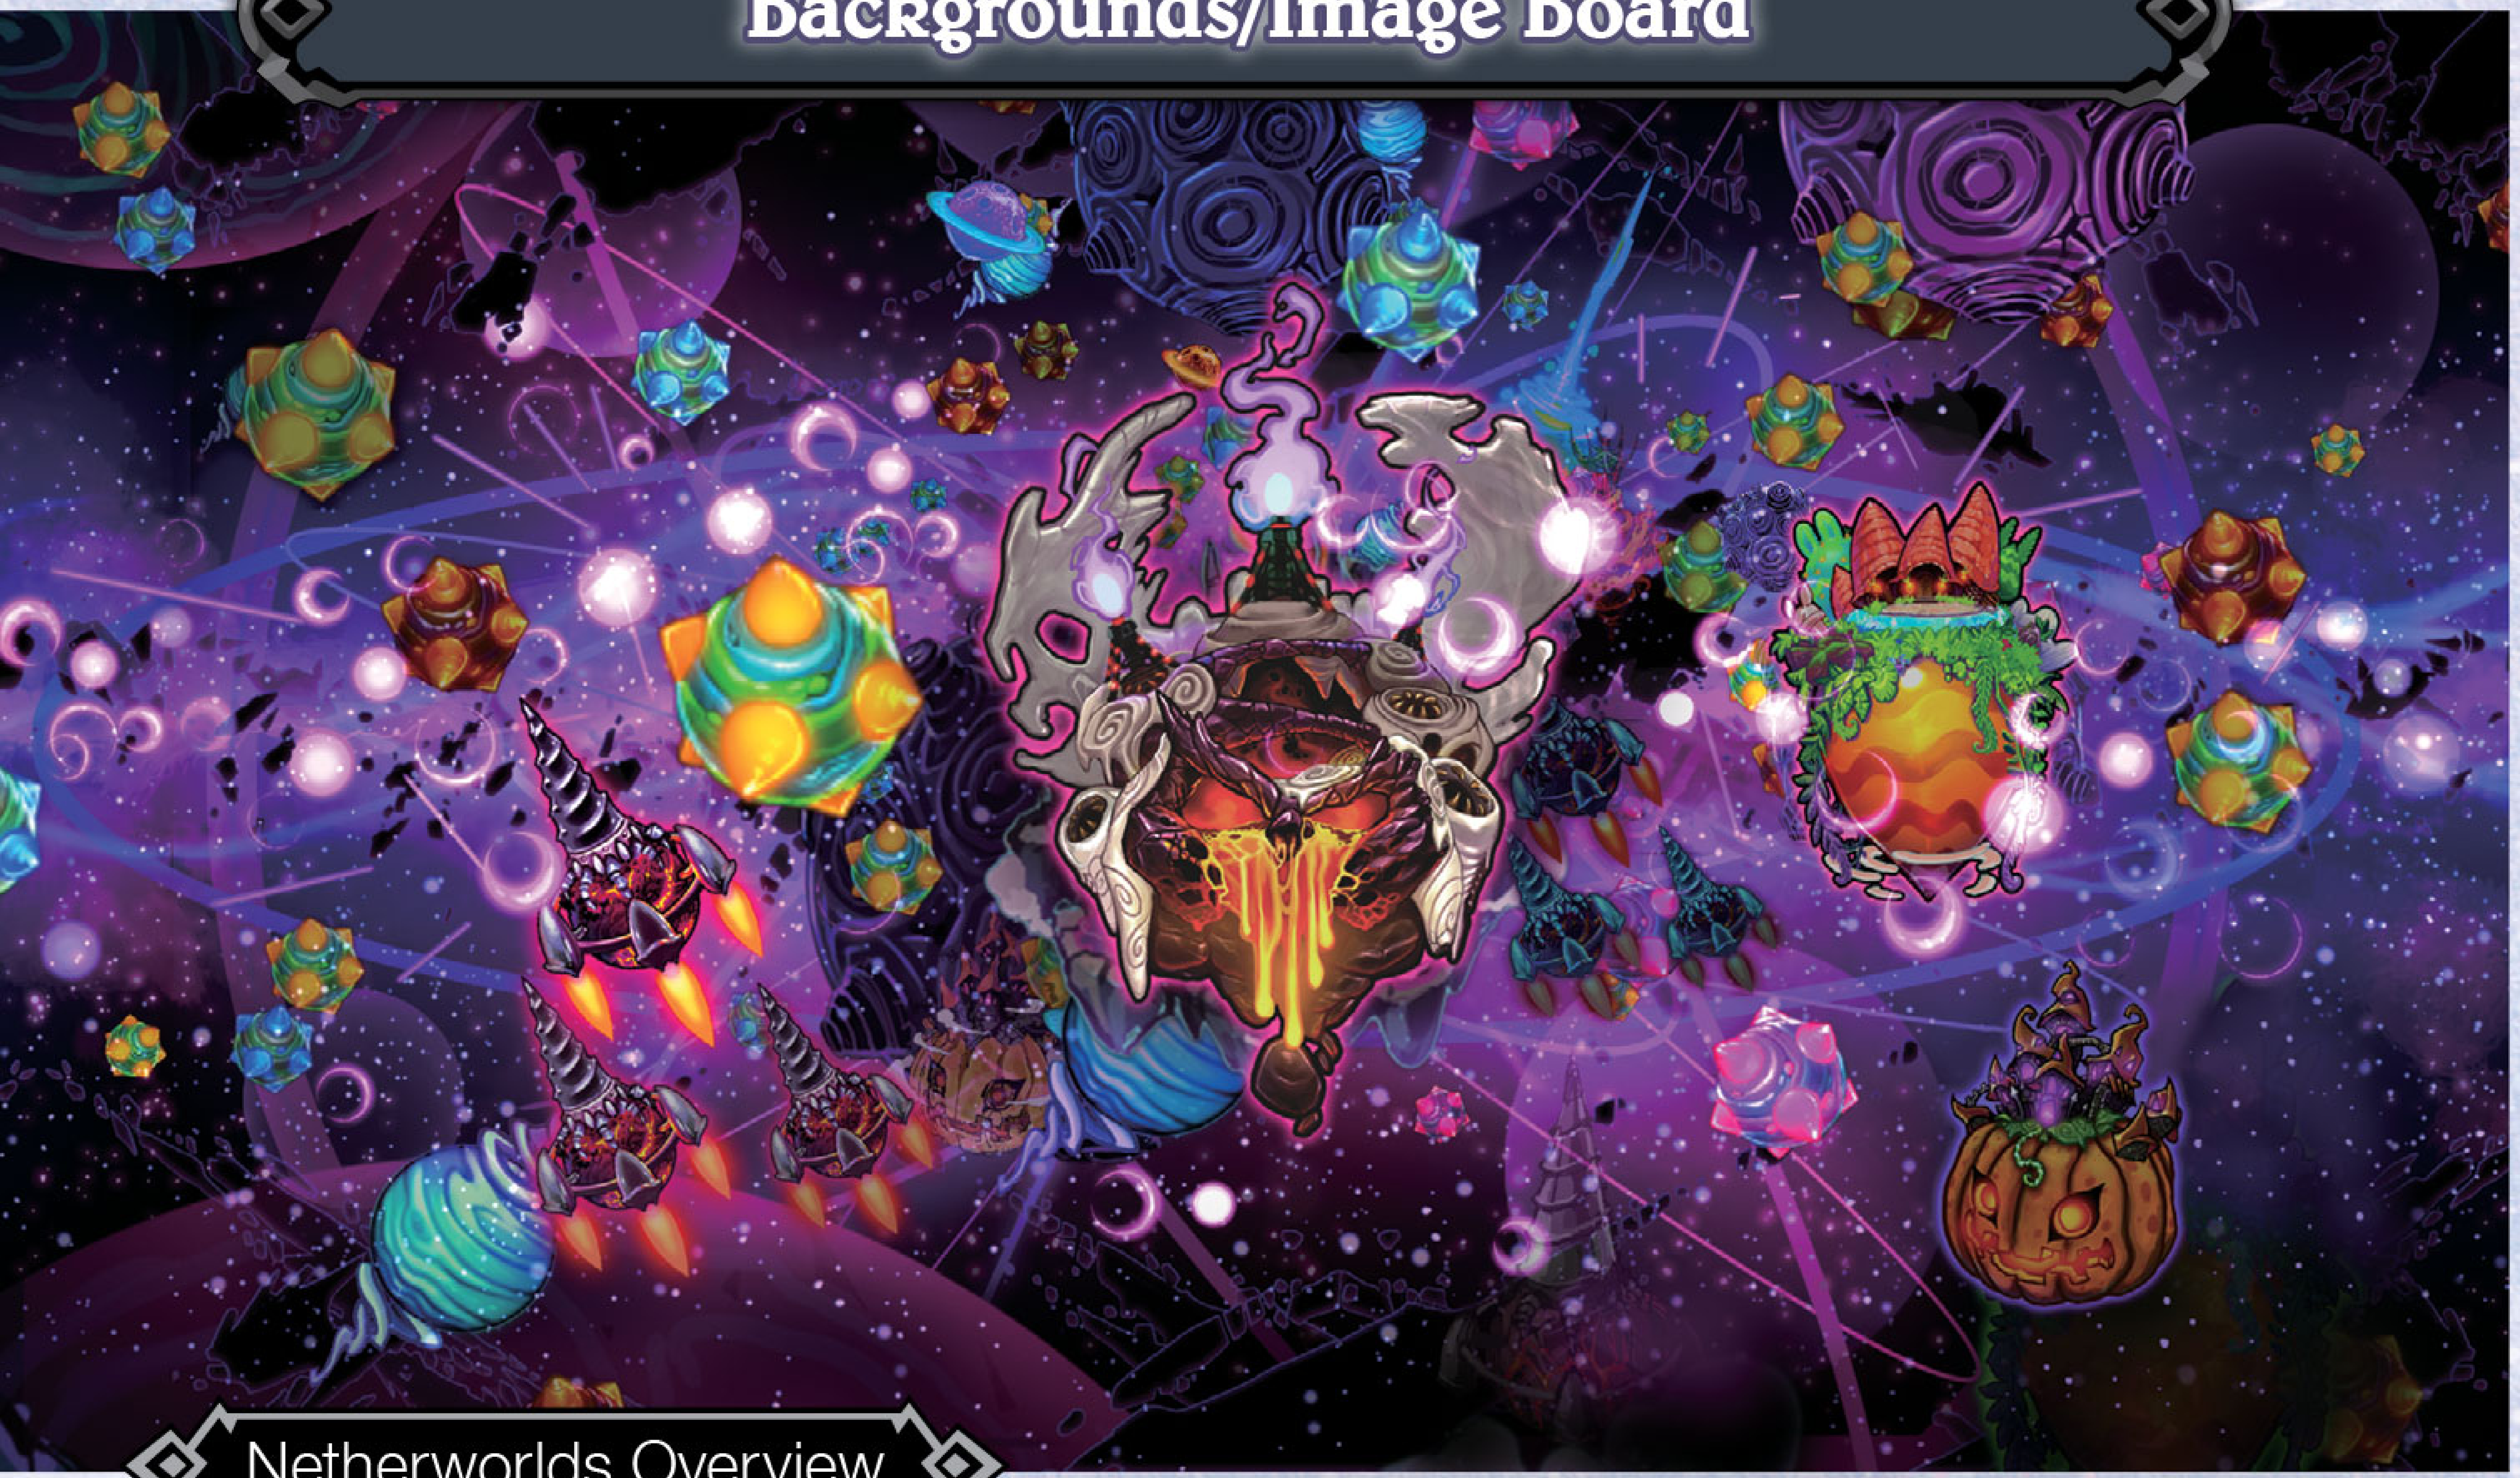

A knight with demonic dignity. His sturdy armor reduces physical damage.

Comment by the Development Staff

In Disgaea 5 Complete, the Netherworlds often change for each episode, so we made a variety of them. Also, to bring out the gameplay and characteristics, we used vibrant colors as a motif.

Since it takes place during a war, each Netherworld is dealing with a different situation. Some Netherworlds are being invaded, some have been destroyed, some weren't harmed due to their strength, some haven't been invaded yet, and some have been modified into weapons.

During the design process, we had everything from jokey to must-have Netherworld ideas. Only a few Netherworlds are introduced in the story, but there are a lot of unique Netherworlds out there.
